A RAILWAY HORROR.

Four Passenger Cars Thrown Down an Embankment.

SIX PERSONS KILLED OUTRIGHT

Between Thirty and Forty Wounded.

A NUMBER DIE FROM THEIR INJURIES

List of the Victims.

COLUMBUS, O., September 22.—A most frightful accident occurred at an early hour this morning at Black Lick station, on the Pan-Handle road, about twelve miles from this city. The train was running at a rate of perhaps forty miles an hour, when from some cause or other four cars of the train jumped the track and rolled down the embankment, which is some twenty-five or thirty feet at that place. The engine, baggage car and mail car remained on the track, while those in the rear went off. This leads some to think that the accident was caused by a broken rail, while others are of the opinion that it was caused by jumping the track while making the curve. The cars that went down the embankment are in a broken condition. One gentleman who was on the train states that the cars are fine enough to make kindling wood, and that there is not a single wheel on any of the cars. Intelligence was at once sent to the city, and in a few minutes a wrecking train and physicians were on the scene of the accident, and every attention given the wounded that could be given. Conductor Lacy, who was in charge of the train, and his assistants did what was in their power to alleviate the sufferers until assistance arrived. The killed and wounded were brought to the Union Depot, from whence the wounded were removed to hotels. Physicians from the city responded promptly, and were this morning busily ministering to the wants of their patients. In the confusion which prevailed it was hard to get the names of

The Killed and Wounded.

Four persons are known to have been killed outright, two men and two children. One of the killed is a son of S. P. Bennett, of Cairo, Illinois; Lizzie Bancroft, of Philadelphia, a child three years old. One of the men is said to be from St. Louis, and another from Hamilton, Ohio. Of the wounded no adequate idea can be given of the number. Many of them took their regular trains at the depot and departed for their homes without reporting to any one. It is variously estimated that there must have been between thirty and forty persons who were more or less injured by the accident. Some of the wounds are very slight, while others are quite serious many of the injuries being about the head and upper portion of the body. The Union Depot this morning had somewhat the appearance of A Hastily Devised Hospital.

The emigrant room had been used to receive the wounded, where they were placed on hastily constructed beds, and from which they were to be removed to the hotels. All but two had been removed when the reporter visited the scene this morning, and they were very badly wounded, one of whom will perhaps die. About the depot waiting for trains were a number of persons with heads bandaged, arms in slings, or limping around as best they could. All who were on the train speak of the accident as a most frightful one, and are astonished that the deaths are so few.

The wounded at the Neil House are Mrs W. H. Ellis and a little girl, from New Orleans. Mrs. Ellis is badly bruised about the head and chest. The little girl is unhurt. Samuel Lentz, of Philadelphia, is badly bruised about the body, but not seriously hurt. All of these were in the sleeper. The wounded at Davidson's Hotel are: George Ohmer, formerly owner of the depot restaurant in this city, and wife and daughter are seriously injured. The injuries received by this party are principally internal and body bruises. Mr. Ohmer is now a resident of Dayton, Ohio J. D. Briggs and wife, of Springfield, Mo., are badly bruised, but not seriously. Mr. L. J. McCoy, who resides at No. 372 Eighth street, Louisville, Ky., is seriously injured. He was lying quietly, but in such a condition that he could give no information to our reporter. About ten of the wounded and one of the killed are in the Exchange Hotel. C. Brazelton and wife, of Greenwood, Polk county, Iowa, were in one room. He was suffering from a serious cut on the thigh and head. Mrs. Brazelton, a very large lady, had one wrist broken and the other dislocated. She was very seriously cut and bruised about the face and head. They had been to the Centennial and were returning via the South. Mrs. Brazelton's most serious injuries are feared to be internal. Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bancroft and four children are at this hotel, all injured. Mrs. Bancroft had received internal injuries, and three of the children were injured more or less about the body. Lizzie Bancroft, a little three year old girl, was killed, and had been laid out in the room occupied by the parents and brothers and sisters. John Wolz, two cousins, and two gentlemen were bruised considerably, and their clothing torn almost in shreds. They congratulated themselves that the injuries are comparatively slight. They are from Weston, Mo., and had been to Philadelphia.

Additional Particulars.

Additional particulars relative to the railroad accident near this city have been gathered since sending the last dispatch. In additon to those reported killed must be added Wm. Keuchling, supposed to be from Cincinnati, and Isaac Thornton, of Vanmeter, Iowa. A man supposed to be John Weedenberner, of Hamilton, is still lying at the depot, badly, but not fatally injured. He declines to give his name for fear of the effect the news would have on his wife. Squire Rockamy and family, of Cincinnati, were all somewhat injured, but were able to continue their journey to-day. Other persons reported injured also left on the noon trains for other points.

A visit to the place of the accident shows that the track was straight at that point, that the road was laid with steel rails, and is in excellent condition. This morning the wheels of all the cars were tested thoroughly at Newark, a few miles from Black Lick, and found to be all sound. What caused the accident is as yet a mystery.

A List of the Injured.

After a tour among the hotels where the persons injured are being cared for, and from information gathered from trustworthy sources and the Evening Dispatch, the following can be considered as a reliable list of the persons injured severely enough to require mention, and the extent of their injuries:

Mrs. Mary Banning, of Pleasant Ridge, head, hand and face badly cut; C. H. Fay, of Concord, N. H., shoulder and legs broken; D. S. Leyman, of Goshen, Ohio, hand cut and leg badly bruised; Peter Lumatine, of Aukeny, Iowa, head cut and side badly bruised; Mrs. Jane Lumstine, of Aukeny, Iowa, head cut and neck strained; Calvin Thornton, of Des Moines, Iowa, head and legs slightly bruised; J. D. Beggs, of Springfield, Mo, shoulder and legs badly hurt; Mrs. J. D. Beggs, head bruised and shoulder badly sprained; A. Shockey, of St. Louis, head and shoulder considerably cut; Mrs. A. Shockey, legs cut and body badly bruised; Samuel Jones, of St. Louis, badly hurt about the breast, head and arms; Mrs. S. S. Eastwood, of Lousville, left shoulder dislocated; Mattie Grubblinghoff, of Dayton, face and head bruised; S. B. Bennett, of Cairo, foot and leg badly crushed; Mrs. S. P. Bennett, hand cut and shoulder badly bruised; T. M. McCoy, of Louisville, body badly bruised; Mrs. J. R. Bancroft, of Philadelphia, badly bruised about the shoulders; two children of this lady were badly bruised and one killed; Mrs. William Ellis, of New Orleans, it was supposed was badly injured, but in fact she is very slightly bruised about the head; her child was unhurt; N. J. Williams, of Vincennes, bruised about the chest and legs; Mrs. Lizzie Shankton, of Evansville, shoulder and head bruised; Samuel Orr, of Junction City, Kansas, head and legs badly bruised; John Wols, of Burton, Miss, head and hand cut and arm sprained; Mrs. S. A. Ort, of Louisville, badly hurt about the back; Miss Anna Brazelton, of Greenwood, Iowa, seriously injured internally; Sarah Otos, of Burton, Miss, badly bruised.

There were no other persons than those given above who were injured sufficiently to prevent their continuing their journey. The railroad officials are doing their utmost to care for the sufferers.

Another Death.

Mrs. C. Brazelton, of Greenwood, Iowa, injured in the railroad accident this morning, died this evening. A coroner's jury spent the day at the place of the accident.

A Republican Meeting Broken Up by Democratic Roughs.

TOLEDO, O., September 22.—General Conway, of New York, was to speak at a Republican meeting here to-night, but the meeting was broken up at the beginning of his speech by a crowd of one hundred and fifty men antagonistic to Mr. Conway's views, principally Irish, who had threatened during the day that he should not speak. No cause of the trouble is known, unless it be that Conway is of Irish descent and a Republican.

THE BLACK HILLS.

A Treaty Consummated for their Surrender—The Indians to be Removed to the Indian Territory.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, September 20, VIA FORT LARAMIE, WY., September 22.—At half past ten this morning the Indians sent word to the Commissioners that they were ready for another council, and the Commissioners at once prepared for a talk. The attendance of Indians was much larger than yesterday. The first speaker was Little Wound, who said yesterday he heard something that made him almost cry. He has always considered when the Great Father made arrangements for the railroad through the Indian country he would pay for it. For fifty years he has always considered this his own country, and when it was told him yesterday that he was to be made like a man without a country it made him cry. He wished al' the white men married into the tribe, to live with them always, and that it be not possible to send them away at any time. He wished the white men who are living among the Brules married to Ogallala women, to come and live with them. He was willing to sign the papers the Commissioners had brought here on the condition that while the young men are gone to the Indian country those that staid here should be fed.

Bishop Whipple, on the part of the Commission, replied that with reference to the things he asked for they are all and more provided for in the paper they are asked to sign. As for the white men married into the tribe they would not be interfered with, but white men who came here to stay a few days and do the Indians injury would not be allowed to stay.

Little Wound then said he wanted the Commission to make haste and lay the matter before the great council, and the Indians themselves desired to go to Washington and see the Great Father. He also wished a copy of everything said here given to them, so that there be no mistakes.

This evening the Commissioners consummated a treaty with the Sioux, Cheyennes and Arrapahoes, the Indians agreeing to the proposition made to them on the 7th inst, without the change of a single word, which has already been published in full.

To the surprise of the Commissioners, after they had offered their signatures to the treaty, the Indians hung back, and speeches were made by a number of them before they would touch the pen and make their marks. Red Cloud said: "I am a friend of the President, and you men who come here see we are the chief men and men of influence. You have come here with words of the Great Father. Therefore, because I am his friend, I have said yes to what he has said to me, and I suppose that makes you happy. I don't like it that we have a soldier here to give us food. It makes our children's hearts go back and forth."

Ex-Queen Isabella started for Madrid on Thursday.

BARCELONA, September 22.—A manifesto of advanced Republicans, signed in Paris by Zorilla and Salmeron, has been circulated throughout Spain. TURKEY.

The Proclamation of Prince Milan as King.

BELGRADE, September 22.—The proclamation of Prince Milan as King of Servia is enthusiastically received by the population. When proclaiming royalty, the Servian army also declared the abolition of the Servian constitution and the conferment of absolute authority on Prince Milan.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Fatal Cannon Explosion.

PANAMA, September 12.—On Sunday, the 10th inst, while testing some cannon on the beach near this city, one of them exploded, killing four persons, dangerously wounding two or three others, and slightly injuring about eight more. The President of the State and leading officers of the squad are among the hurt.

HELL GATE.

The Explosion to Take Place on Sunday Afternoon.

NEW YORK, September 22.—The explosion at Hell Gate is definitely fixed for Sunday next at 2:50 P. M. General Newton has addressed a special circular to the citizens of Astoria, within whose territory is the shaft of the excavation at Hell Gate.

"I have to thank them for their fortitude, notwithstanding the attempts to make a panic, instituted by poltroons of the male sex. The inhabitants are advised near the line of the explosion to be without the cordon established, leaving their houses, with doors and windows open. In every case where the ceilings are disturbed the advice would be to vacate the houses at the time of the explosion. There is no liability of walls being overthrown or impaired."

The people of Astoria propose to make Sunday a general outdoor holiday. General Newton and aides will fire the mine from a point six hundred yards back. A nearer place would have been chosen if there was one from which a view of the explosion could be had.

The New York Sabbath Committee having addressed a communication to General Newton urging that some other day than Sunday be chosen for the explosion, and saying so important an achievement of engineering science and skill will be noticed in other parts of the world, and the fact that Sunday was chosen for the grand occasion will be understood as in accordance with foreign usages, which calls that a gala day, and so it will do not a little to impair the force of our example as a Sabbath-keeping people, the General replied orally that while he respected the Sabbath as much as the gentlemen whose sentiments the note presented, the explosion on that day was a matter of necessity.

CENTENNIAL NOTES.

Professional Thieves Want a Day at the Exposition—Shantytown Gone.

PHILADELPHIA, September 22.—An odd Centennial whimsey was developed this morning. Mayor Stokely received a letter containing a request from the professional thieves of the city to have a day set apart when they could visit the Exposition without being captured and imprisoned for ninety days. The letter promised that were the request granted the supplicants would on the day specified act in a perfectly orderly and law abiding manner.

At six o'clock this morning the work of tearing down "Shantytown," a large collection of frame buildings outside of the Centennial enclosure, was begun, in accordance with the order of the court. One hundred men did the work of destruction, guarded by one hundred policemen and under the personal oversight of the Mayor and Chief of Police. The destruction was soon complete.

The weather to-day was cloudy and threatening, with occasional rain, but the attendance at the Exposition was nevertheless very large. It will approach the 130,000 of yesterday, but appearances indicate that the cash admissions reached fully 90,000.

Suicide of Secretary Robeson's Private Secretary.

NEW YORK, September 22.—A Newport dispatch says the recent suicide on the boat from New York has been identified as that of Frank B. Smith, private secretary of the Secretary of the Navy. Smith assumed the name of Wheeler a few weeks before his death, a companion of his bearing that name. A request to publish a card was found, for the purpose of notifying his friends of his death in as quiet a manner as possible. The death of a sister and the refusal of a young lady to become his wife are accepted as the moving causes to self-destruction. Smith was under orders to go to China with confidential dispatches from the Secretary of the Navy.

THE BOYS IN BLUE.

Splendid Marching of the Veterans from Allegheny County.

They Make a Call on Our Next President.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 22, 1876.

One of the chief features of the procession yesterday morning was the splendid appearance made by the Allegheny and Philadelphia veterans. They were headed by the State Fencibles Band, of Philadelphia. They received applause from the crowds all along the route. In passing down Illinois street the sight was grand. Shoulder to shoulder they marched with the precision of veterans, showing the people of Indiana how the old Keystone State will march to the polls in November and deposit their vote for freedom and patriotism.

Capt. Tyson, of the Allegheny Veterans, is deserving of the greatest praise for his energy in securing them everything pertaining to their comfort, and every courtesy extended to him by the Philadelphia Veterans, whose guests the Alleghenys are, were highly appreciated. Addresses were made by some of the old comrades to a large crowd at the camp grounds, and were warmly appreciated. The Vets. start back home this morning. They will stop at Columbus to serenade Gov. Hayes, and will be in Pittsburgh by Saturday morning.

COLUMBUS, September 22.—The Philadelphia Veteran Club, Allegheny Club and Boys in Blue from Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, with Governor Hartranft at their head, arrived here at noon to-day, en route home from Indianapolis. The party were met at the depot by General A. Wikoff and a delegation of citizens with a brass band, and escorted to the rotunda of the State House, where they were received by Governor Hayes. Short speeches were made by Governor Hartranft, General Negley and Major Fell, of Pittsburgh, and Major Tyson, of Allegheny. Governor Hayes returned thanks for the call in a two minute speech, when the visitors returned to the depot and at once left for home.

THE GALLOWS.

A Canadian Murderer Hanged.

CAYUGA, ONT., September 22.—John Young, convicted of the murder of Abel McDonald, was hanged here this morning. Early last night Young, who had secreted a Bible with a brass clasp, wrenched off the latter and sharpened the edge against the wall, intending to commit suicide. On the scaffold he was asked if he had anything to say, and spoke as follows: "I hope this will be a warning to all you young men. Don't follow in my tracks. I see a good many around here that I know. I hope it will warn them, and the same to the strangers present. I hardly think I'm worthy of this death, but as it is so ordered I'll have to put up with it. I have nothing more to say, but I hope to meet all of you some day in a better world. I hope you will be warned, and not come to a death like this. I think this should warn you."

Owing to the breaking of a ring in the bolt, the first attempt of the hangman was a failure. A few minutes' delay occurred while a hammer was sent for. After the bolt was broken the trap fell, and Young was soon dead.

The Strike on the South Carolina Rice Plantations.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 22.—The strike in Combahee has broken out afresh and with increased violence. The strikers are beating most brutally all colored hands whom they find at work. Some of these hands who had been working for two dollars a day and who were terribly cut and bruised yesterday, reached Charleston this evening, hoping for redress from the United States Courts, as the civil officers of the State are powerless in the disturbed regions, and gangs of strikers are masters of the situation. The planters are in despair about harvesting the rice crop.

Fire in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, September 23—2 A. M.—The furniture warerooms of Rosendale & Co. took fire since twelve o'clock, and are burned. About one o'clock the flames burst from the four story iron front of the wholesale notion house of Brosius & Co., and in a few moments extended to German street, enveloping the wholesale glass house of Zim & Emery. The fire is raging fiercely.

The Safe Burglary Trial.

Criminal Court.

(Before Judge Kirkpatrick.)

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. L. W. Adams, previously reported, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, but directed the defendant to pay the costs. It is quite evident that the verdict was a compromise, for there could be no circumstances in a case of that character which would justify a verdict of not guilty if the defendant was guilty, and if not guilty there could be no reason why the costs should be imposed on him. The endorsement on the indictment by the foreman was as follows: "Giving the defendant the benefit of a reasonable doubt, we say not guilty and defendant pay costs."

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Edward Meenan et al., the boys charged with robbing a Pennsylvania Railroad car, was resumed and occupied the time of the court until after twelve o'clock.

Commonwealth vs. Mathias Lanz, indicted for assault and battery, on oath of William Rooney. On the 19th of August the prosecutor went to the premises of the defendant in the Twenty-fourth ward, and went into his house without knocking, alleging that he had made a mistake in the premises, when the defendant kicked him off the premises. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs.

Commonwealth vs. Chas. Longmyer, indicted for fornication and bastardy, on oath of Margaret Buckley of New Texas, Plum township. The prosecutrix said she was 35 years of age, and she looked to be 50. The defendant had been released from jail on his own recognizance to appear at June term, which he failed to do, and his recognizance was forfeited. The court said if the district attorney would elect to do so, he might go to trial without the defendant. A jury was sworn, and a verdict of guilty was returned.

The next was the commonwealth vs. Joseph Herman, indicted for the larceny of a keg of whisky from Chas. Basanecker, who keeps a saloon on Ridge avenue, Allegheny. It was in testimony that the defendant went to prosecutor's house to stay all night. That some time in the night he got up and took a keg of whisky from behind the bar and carried it off. Verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was sentenced to the Workhouse for two years.

Commonwealth vs. John Mallally, indicted for the larceny of $14 from the prosecutor, John Might. The defendant was indicted jointly with Wm. Might, a son of the prosecutor who had not been arrested. The money was stolen from Sarah Furguson, a daughter of the prosecutor, who testified that the defendant came to her house and informed her that her father was severely injured and her mother wanted her to come and see him. She went as requested and found that she had been fooled, that there was nothing the matter with her father. She returned home at once and found that she had been robbed of about $14 in silver. Verdict of not guilty.

Court Brevities.

THERE was but one applicant for citizenship in the Criminal Court yesterday.

JUDGE EWING will resume the bench in the Criminal Court on Monday.

ALL surety and desertion cases not previously disposed of will be heard in the Criminal Court to-day.

E. A. L. ROBERTS, through his attorney, filed fifty bills yesterday against fifty different persons in the oil regions for infringing on his patent torpedo.

ROLAND D. JONES, of McKeesporte, commenced a proceeding for slander yesterday, in the Common Pleas No. 2, against David Lloyd, representing that the defendant had publicly stated that he had robbed him out of his house and home. A capias was issued and bail required in the sum of $2,000.

THE defendants in the railroad case were all found guilty with the exception of Lemon, but recommended to the mercy of the Court. They were sentenced to the Pennsylvania Reform School. The defendants were Edward Meenan, Joseph Genett, John Collins, John Snorr and Wilson Taylor.

THE case of the United States vs. Samuel Thompson, indicted in the United States Court for illegally removing liquor from his distillery at Brownsville, has been settled. Isaac Thompson paid over to the U. S. Attorney the sum of $58,000 and costs of the suit, equal to $8,000 more. Samuel Thompson is still absent, or, at least, hasn't turned up yet.

ON motion of Assistant Attorney Wilson in the U. S. District Court yesterday the Clerk was ordered to certify to the Circuit Court for trial in October the record in the case of James McCloskey and Louis A. Kennedy, who, while acting as pilot and engineer on the river without licenses, by their inexperience and negligence caused the death of two men.

JUDGE KETCHUM directed the Clerk of the United States District Court to pay to Collector of Internal Revenue Sullivan $5,588.44, paid into the registry of the Court from the proceeds of the distillery, etc., of Hoffman & Co., of Butler county, and to Collector Davis the following: The compromise money in the whisky case of Samuel Thompson, of Brownsville, amounting to $58,000, and $401.40 tax on spirits paid by Samuel Thompson.

THE jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Edward Meehan and others, the boys indicted for the car robbery, came into Court for instructions. They desired to know, if they agreed upon a verdict as to a portion of the defendants and disagreed as to others, if they could so return a verdict. The Court informed them that they could not; that they would have to dispose of the entire case as to all the defendants, that they might find a portion of them guilty and others not guilty, but they must agree as to all of them.

G. L. PAYNE convicted of larceny and of burglary also, for the Seventh avenue Hotel robbery, was called up for sentence on the charge of larceny, the Court having decided not to pass sentence in the case for burglary, until the question as to the plea could be argued. The prisoner stated that he was a carpenter and pattern maker; that he resided at Milwaukee, Wis; that he did not commit the robbery, and if he had time could get certificates of his good character. The Court then stated that the prisoner could be remanded and sentence postponed until this day week.

REV. DAVID R. BREED, of St. Paul, Minn., will preach in the Third Presbyterian church to-morrow morning and evening.

COME to figure it down, and the Methodists contribute forty-three cents per member annually to Foreign Missions, and the Baptists a trifle less.

THERE was a gain of upwards of one thousand members in the bounds of the Pittsburgh Metodist (non-Episcopal) Conference last year. This is an encouraging report.

REV. L. D. BARROWS, D. D., who is in attendance at the M. E. Conference meeting, was formerly President of the Pittsburgh Female College.

REV. F. S. DEHASS, who is one of the Methodist clergymen who are now favoring our city with their presence, is a noted traveler, fresh from Palestine.

THE new Catholic church of our Lady of Consolation, corner of Third avenue and Ferry street, will be dedicated by Rt. Rev. Bishop Tuigg to-morrow morning.

REV. R. W. PEARSON, D. D., will preach to-morrow in the Fourth avenue Baptist church. Subjects of discourse: Morning—"Nature, Necessity, and Means of a Genuine Revival," and in the evening, "Little Foxes and their Game."

REV. T. H. COLHOUER will deliver his commission as Pastor of the First Methodist (P.) church, on East Common, on Sabbath morning, the 24th inst., at 10:30 o'clock, and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock will present his pastoral platform, on which he will act in the future.

IN consequence of the sudden death of Dr. Howard, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, all regular services will be omitted to-morrow, and a special prayer meeting will be held in the church at 3 o'clock P. M., conducted by Dr. Jacobus and other ministers.

LAST Sunday afternoon Right Rev. Bishop Tuigg visited St. Michael's church on the South Side, where he received into the Sodality of the Holy Family 160 young men. After the reception he proceeded to St. Joseph's Church, Mt. Oliver, where he confirmed 39 persons, four of whom were adults and converts.

REV. JONATHAN WILSON, missionary at Siam, is on a visit to friends. He left Siam six months ago and has been on the way since. His children talk the Siamese language and on board the vessel they were made very sad and sorrowful by their parents talking English to them. Discovering this the parents talked in Siamese

THE New York Tablet has again announced the old Roman Catholic doctrine: "Whosoever dies out of communion with the Roman Catholic Church is lost." That paper is especially severe upon the Methodist Church. It says that the very fact of being "a Methodist insures the loss of the unfortunate person's soul." Our Methodist brethren will please take notice.

THE pressure of the times through which we have passed, has been felt in all benevolent and missionary work, so as to prevent expansion. The American Board ended its year on September 1st, with a debt just about as large as last year. The receipts have been $431,933. The appropriations were reduced $20,000 the last year, and the work, of course, stopped in its enlargement to that extent.

THE Baptist Social Union of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and vicinity will hold its first meeting after the summer vacation next Tuesday evening at 7½ o'clock, in the Penn avenue Baptist church, East End. The delegates to the National Convention of Social Unions held some time since in Philadelphia, will make reports. The subject for discussion will be "The Fall Campaign in Our Churches." Rev. J. G. Wrightnour will make the opening address.

THE Ladies' Missionary Society of the Sandusky street Baptist church, Allegheny, gave a reception at the house of their pastor, Rev. B. F. Woodburn, on Thursday evening. Pastors Hutson and Woodburn made addresses. An essay was read by Miss Zella Bunn, a poem by Miss Annie Marshall, and a letter from Miss Haswell, of Burmah. The singing from Gospel Songs was excellent. The attendance of earnest friends of missions was large and the evening delightfully spent.

MINISTERS, especially in our Church, cannot be justly charged with avariciousness. The majority of them labor for about one-third of what they would be willing to take in any other employment. An ordinary clerkship pays more than one-half of our pastoral charges. Yet the servant of the Lord goes out willingly to his field of labor, counting it joy to "suffer hardness" for the Master. It is then but reasonable that we should smooth the way as much as possible, and make the pastor's lot as desirable as we can.

AS THE summer ends, and the chilly days of autumn come, we are made to reflect on the flight of time and the transitoriness of life and earthly enjoyments. And to those who are growing old, and with whom the larger part of a career is contemplated in retrospect, the reflection is sure to take the direction of a lament that life is such an utter vanity. But the hasty life brings us the more quickly to heaven. The short journey, if it is pursued in Christian faith, soon reaches its end and consummation. Why shall we not see in the falling leaves a suggestion of the other fact that we are but hastening on to rest amid scenes made delightful by unfading foliage.—United Presbyterian.

THE Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church will hold its semi-annual meeting in the city of Pittsburgh on the last Thursday of October, beginning at 10 o'clock A. M., in the Third church, on Sixth avenue. The "Pittsburgh and Allegheny committee" take great pleasure in inviting delegates from all the societies reporting through them, and also from all Presbyterial societies and others who may be able to come. It is hoped that there will be present one or more members from every church in this region; and for the convenience of those having the matter in charge, it is desirable to know the number of representatives who will remain over night. There will be entertainment for all. Address Mrs. A. A. Hodge, Allegheny city, Pa.

HERE'S richness—as Brother Squeers would remark. The Methodist ministers of New York on Thursday had a conference, and there was some very plain talk among them. One of their number said that there was too much gospel clap-trap and trickery, and he was sick of hearing preachers announce that on a certain day or night the seats would be free to the poor. They had too many fine churches, and too much attention was paid to the rich. Even the Gospel Tent was pitched among the wealthy residences and not on the Battery, among the poor, where it properly belonged. Another clergyman went still further, and said there was as much humbug in the Methodist church as any other. He thought it would be a good thing if one-third of the Methodist churches were sold to pay the debts of the other two-thirds. All these remarks were greeted with applause.

PITTSBURGH CONFERENCE.

A Variety of Reports—The Ratio of Representation—Presiding Elder Districts—Afternoon and Evening Meetings—Appointments for Services To-morrow.

The devotional exercises yesterday morning at the opening of the session of the Pittsburgh M. E. Conference were conducted by Rev. P. M. McGowan. After the minutes had been read and approved, the third question, "Who remain on trial?" was taken up, and Revs. G. T. Reynolds, O. A. Emerson, W. C. Weaver, A. Cameron, J. T. Steffey, S. M. Bell and W. N. Richards, reported their missionary and necessitous collections, were examined, passed, and continued on trial. Rev. C. B. Lank was discontinued at his own request. S. M. Bell and J. T. Steffy were elected to Deacon's Orders. The reports of the Committees on Temperance, Freedmen's Aid Society, Parsonage, Centenary and Books and Periodicals were read and adopted. A paper from the Trustees of Mt. Union College was referred to the Committee on Education.

The special order for ten o'clock, viz., the consideration of the action of the late General Conference in changing the ratio of ministerial representation in that body was taken up, and on motion of Dr. Nesbit that action was concurred in by a vote of 87 yeas to 11 nays. The action of the General Conference in reference to the change of the third restrictive rule, giving the annual Conferences the privilege of deciding the number of Presiding Elder districts, was next presented, and was laid on the table until official data could be had, that it might be presented in correct form.

Rev. J. J. Hays moved that the action taken on Thursday in adopting a resolution restricting the number of districts into which the Conference should be divided, be reconsidered. The motion was carried, and Rev. W. K. Brown then moved as an amendment that the Conference recommend the Bishop to leave the number of districts as they now are. This was discussed at some length pro. and con. by several members of the Conference, among whom were Revs. W. K. Brown, D. L. Dempsey, J. L. Deens, S. H. Nesbit, and I. C. Pershing. The principal argument in favor of reducing the number of Presiding Elders districts was based on grounds of economy, that the people desired to be relieved from supporting so many Presiding Elders. Those who favor the retention of the present number argued that there are now one hundred and thirty-five appointments in the Conference, and one hundred and forty members. To reduce the number of districts would be to increase the number of ministers unprovided for. Finally, the hour for adjournment drawing near, the matter was laid on the table for future consideration.

The report in relation to Allegheny College, presented by Dr. L. H. Bugbe, the President of that institution, showed it to be in a very flourishing condition. Dr. Wheeler, editor of the Christian Advocate of this city, occupied a short time in speaking of the prospects and condition of that paper. He asked for church news, brief and to the point, from all parts of the work, and promised that the Advocate should be all that the church could ask. After the announcement of committee meetings the Conference adjourned until this morning.

At the afternoon anniversary of the Home Mission addresses were delivered by Revs. H. D. Fisher, M. J. Montgomery, J. C. High and A. H. Miller. In the evening an educational meeting was held, at which Drs. S. M. Vernon and L. H. Bugbee made speeches. It closed with the benediction by Dr. O. N. Hartshorn.

East Ohio Conference.

STEUBENVILLE, O., September 21.

The Conference convened as usual at 9 o'clock A. M. A committee of five was appointed to try the appeal of Rev. Thomas Hickling, a local elder of the Akron district.

Rev. Dr. C. A. Hulings, of the Central Presbyterian Conference, Dr. Barrows, of the Freedmen's Aid Society, Drs. Miller, Baker and Cox, of the Pittsburgh Conference, were introduced. The three gentlemen, last named, were sent as a committee from the Pittsburgh Conference to advise with a committee here in regard to the adjustment of certain matters springing out of the recent division of the two Conferences. Revs. Williams, Bracken and Minor were chosen to represent this Conference. The session to-day was wholly consumed in the representations of the different districts by the respective elders; passing of the preacher's characters, and the report of the Missionary and Necessitous collections. The result was very gratifying. Although the Conference year has been but six months long the collections are in proportion greatly in advance of those of last year.

Dr. Barrows, in an eloquent and effective manner, represented the Freedman's Aid Society.

The commission appointed by the Pittsburgh and East Ohio Conferences organized by electing Dr. Cox, President, and L. F. Minor, Secretary.

It was agreed that the superannuated and supernumerary preachers residing out of the bounds of the Conferences be assigned to the Pittsburgh Conference.

The following claimants fall in the bounds of the Pittsburgh Conference, viz.: T. W. Hudson, Abner Jackson, R. Hopkins, P. M. McGowan, B. F. Lowhill, J. K. Miller, J. D. Yarnall, T. C. McClure, M. L. Weekly, W. Smith, Wm. Gamble, Widows, Lisson, Hess, Armstrong, Cooper, Beacom, McMahon, Stevens, White, Toutch, Turner, Babcock, Houston, Hays, McIntire, Lemmon, Cramer, Williams, H. Snyder's Son.

EDITOR GAZETTE: Whereas an article appeared in the Leader of 21st inst., aspersing the character and good name of the Pittsburgh agents for the Steinway Pianos, and charging them with having, without my consent, used my name in recommendation of the Steinway manufacture over all others, I do hereby, and in presence of the subscribed witnesses, declare that my preference has always been, and is to-day, for the Steinway Pianofortes, and that I consider them superior to any instruments made in this country or in Europe.

THE EXPOSITION WEDDING.

Another Large Audience Last Night—Full Account of the Ceremony—Songs by the Welsh Choral Society.

The people that assembled last night in the Exposition building to witness the second wedding that has taken place there within a month did not number more than half as many as were drawn together on the first occasion. Not over three thousand were present last night, but they were apparently just as deeply interested in the affair as the seven thousand that looked upon the marriage of Miss Hennig and Mr. Dyck. The presence of the Welsh Choral Society, consisting of ladies and gentlemen, and many of them excellent singers, added largely to the interest manifested in the ceremony. The officiating ministers were Rev. H. G. James, of the Chatham street Baptist church, Rev. Owen Owens, of the South Side Independent church, and Rev. Dr. Thomas, of the Ross street church. Owing to the detention of the Great Western Band, which failed to arrive from Indianapolis promptly on time, the marriage did not take place until nine o'clock. At that hour, however, the music having arrived, it escorted the Choral Society from the manager's office, which was used as a preparation room, to the stand at the east end of the building, where the singers were furnished with seats. The band then returned to the office and led the ministers and the bride and groom and their attendants to the platform. The groom is Mr. Evan Lloyd, a contractor of Colbert, Ohio, and the bride is Miss Hannah Davis, of the South Side. Mr. R. T. Daniels and Mrs. Susie Daniels acted in the capacity of groomsman and bridesmaid. The names of the other attendants were not ascertained. Alderman Thomas officiated as Register. He carried under his arm a book, indicative of his office. Mr. Colbert and Miss Davis were presented to Rev. James, who made a brief introductory address and then offered up a prayer. The ceremony throughout was performed in the Welsh language. The knot was tied by Rev. Owens, who consumed about ten minutes. Dr. Thomas then, to use the words of Rev. James, told the pair how to live, giving them many kindly words of advice, pointing out the shoals to be avoided in the sea of matrimony and telling them how to sail serenely and happily through life. The bride is a neat, raven haired little woman and was dressed in plain black silk, with white lace cuffs and collars. She wore orange blossoms in her hair and at her throat. In her white kid-gloved hands she carried a boquet. The groom is an exceptionally fine looking young gentleman, and was arrayed in full dress costume—coat and pants of broadcloth, and white kids, vest and neck-tie. At the conclusion of the ceremony the Choral Society sang, to the music of the "March of the Men of Harlech," a song arranged specially for this occasion by Rev. James, who said that the tune to which he had set it was fully two thousand years old. Knowing that our readers would appreciate the song we reproduce it, as follows:

"Byddwn lawen ddydd priodas,
Mab a merch y'nt ini'n urddas,
Yma yn yr Arddangosfa
  Y gwnaed y ddau yn un;
Y mae'r ddau yn Gymry selog,
Yn eu rhiniau yn rhai enwog,
O! boed iddynt fyw yn hwyliog,
  Dedwydd, a chytun;
Boed eu nen yn oleu
Beunydd heb gymylau—
  Boed eu plant, bob un yn sant
Groesant barch yr oesau;—
Na boed iddynt dywydd garw,
Boed eu hedd fel bythol lanw,—
Duw 'n y diwedd ddelo 'w galw
  Adref ato'i Hun."

After the performance of a selection by the Great Western Band, the Society rendered another composition of Rev. James's entited "Hob-y-deri-dando," which, freely translated, means "A wild hog under the roof." The lesson taught by the ballad was economy and foresight; always to have a fat hog under the roof at the advent of winter. Addressing Mr. and Mrs. Colbert, Mr. Daniels sang a verse and the Society joined in the chorus. He was followed in succession by two other gentlemen, who imitated the example of Mr. Daniels in addressing the bride and groom, and the latter was manifestly a good deal amused at the subject matter of the song, for he several times almost smiled audibly. The affair terminated with the singing by the choir of "Land of my Fathers," to the tune of "Shan F win." Mr. Colbert and wife will hold a reception in the Exposition building this evening.

In rambling through the building the reporter yesterday observed that is made by Messrs. J. G. Wier & Bros, on the main floor, just east of the Carriage Department. This firm has a wide reputation throughout Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, and their goods rank second to none in the country. Last year they carried off first premiums for Platform Commission Wagons, Coach Top Business Wagons, Patent Spring Wheelbarrows, Hand Truck and Wagon Wheels—really sweeping the field. This year they have put on exhibition some work taken direct from the stock in the shop which gives some idea of their average manufactures. Wagon makers and business men who know something about the work have been especially pleased with the coach top business wagon, which is one of the conspicuous features of the display. To the eye of the scribe this appeared to be as fine a specimen of work as he had ever seen—an opinion which was endorsed by practical men whom he found examining it. The vehicle is stylish, very neat, light, and yet stoutly built. It is just the kind of a wagon needed for expeditious and easy travel over our cobble stone pavements, and is built and braced so as to make it capable of withstanding the greatest wear and tear. Our merchants who need such a vehicle in their trade should especially note this manufacture of Messrs. Weir & Bro.

The most casual observer of this display cannot fail to note also another peculiarity, and that is the high excellence achieved in the matter of painting. All the vehicles shine like mirrors, and it is no exaggeration to say that "you can see yourself" in any of the panels. Masters of the brush evidently have been at work here.

The firm also exhibit a general assortment of wagon material, which is of especial interest to builders. Their display is really an elegant one, and one of the finest illustrations of the high achievements of mechanic art. Their stock as exhibited comes from the manufactory, corner of Washington and Poplar streets, Pittsburgh, and from their establishment nearly all our leading business houses have been supplied with vehicles; the exhibition, therefore, merits the special mention we have given it.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 49½f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 103½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 110.

THE closing days of the Centennial prove to be its best, so far as attendance is concerned. There is a vast increase, and the rush from various parts of the country is tremendous. It is thought that this will continue till about the middle of September.

IT IS surprising how little material it takes to give happiness to the average Democratic newspaper. TILDEN'S defense is, mainly, a mass of verbiage that is no defense at all. Most of the charges stand unbroken, while the non-rendering of income tax returns after 1862, is put on the ground of avoiding trouble. Yet the Democratic press are jubilant over this mess of trash.

THE heavy traffic on the railroads leads to occasional accidents. That on the Pan Handle, yesterday, simply illustrated the general fact. The travel on the lines of road that act as feeders to the Pennsylvania road is very large, and that on the latter road is excessive. Probably no other road in the country could possibly transport the immense traffic that daily passes over the great trunk line, and while it is taxed to the very utmost, the system and efficiency of the road prove sufficient for the emergency.

THE steady progress of the canvass is still in favor of the Republican party. Not a week passes that we do not hear of persons who had been counted on to vote the Democratic ticket, who give decided expression to their purpose to support the Republican ticket. It is felt that in the Congressional canvass, in this county, it is particularly important to carry the Republican candidate. Last winter's revival of rebel cotton and other claims, and the interest manifested in the House in behalf of JEFF. DAVIS, show that we cannot depend on Democrats fulfilling political promises. We were never more earnestly called upon to vote on a basis of principle than we are now.

SO FAR as TILDEN'S statement has been noticed by the press of the country, the decision has been against it. The statements fell far below the necessities of the case. HAYES not merely showed that he had not withheld the truth, but that he had returned all he could to the Government. TILDEN confined his defense to a denial of the points made, so far as he could deny. But there was not a manly and open meeting of the issues involved, such as was the case with HAYES. How much income had TILDEN? If so much that he could not readily give the figures, it would have been more than $7,118. All the peculiarities of the defense show that TILDEN is caught in a bad place. His defense lacks openness and candor, and honesty.

IF A farmer purchased a calf in the year 1860, and nourished it until 1863, and then sold it for a good, round profit, according to TILDEN'S theory of the income tax, he would not be obliged to return it, because a portion of the profit was earned previous to the year in which the return was made. Again, if a man should have written a book in the year 1862, and his agent—the publisher—could not make any returns of profit on sales until 1863, because of sub agents not reporting, according to the same authority the profit when reported in 1863, would not be subject to an income tax, although received that year. Other illustrations could be given, but we will mention but one more. The crop of grain raised by a farmer in 1862 was not of course returnable until sold. If it were not sold until 1863, according to TILDEN, it would not be subject to an income tax, because it was not earned in that year. How easy it would have been to have escaped the tax if TILDEN is right.

THE INCOME TAX ANSWER.

Judge SINNOTT, in behalf of, and doubtless under the direction of Governor TILDEN, has made answer, at last, to the income tax charges, and this answer merits attention. It is accompanied by a letter from Congressman HEWITT, to the effect that he wrote a note to the Secretary of the Treasury asking an account of TILDEN'S income tax returns, and failed to receive an answer, while others, he alleges were allowed to photo-lithograph those returns. As a whine, this may have its value; but as a point in behalf of TILDEN'S income, or of official unfairness, it amounts to nothing. The Secretary is not the custodian of income tax papers, and we suppose that those who did see those returns went to the proper official, personally, which Mr. HEWITT did not, by his own confession, do. Of course, those papers are not sent around, at any one's bidding. However, as the genuineness of the returns made are not questioned, HEWITT'S complaint at most involves only a question of courtesy.

The defense, put by SINNOTT, at most, but partially covers the case. It pretends to meet the details of charges of 1862, and to justify the non-rendering of returns for the assessment of income tax in subsequent years. Of the latter, it is enough to say that the entire justification is put on the ground that it was inconvenient to make returns, and that he believed $15,000 fully covered his receipts. Further that he availed himself of the law as it stood. This, it will be observed, is a negative answer, and stands in the face of the fact that during those years he rolled up wealth till he came out of the war worth millions. It is evidently prevarication, and the facts will be thoroughly searched after. It is morally certain that he made, during the time the income tax was levied, large amounts of money. He did not possess the investments at the outbreak of the war, that are talked of. Where did he get the money to make them? It is evident that this part of the case is met only by an assertion that is a palpable falsehood.

On the charge of fraud and perjury in 1862, Mr. SINNOTT makes a detailed answer. He denies that TILDEN rendered an itemized account for drawing certain mortgages and other legal papers for the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad, and which he dated in 1862—and denies that one of the papers so dated was drawn by Mr. TILDEN at all, but claims that a lump charge was made for prior services, those mentioned being included. The lump charge of $25,000, made and received in 1862 is, then, admitted; and the fact that an important part of the work was done in that year is undisputed. Now if he did important work for that company in previous years, could he not have stated it, and also, why he left a large bill to accumulate, till it aggregated $25,000 before he collected it? Is that his way of doing business? As against the fact that he did important work in 1862, and received pay to the amount of $25,000 that year, we have simply the assertion, which can be admitted without lessening the force of the general charge, that he did not perform one item of the work charged, and the further assertion, which has nothing to back it, that he did work before 1862, for which he was paid in the year named. We submit that as all the items shown were admitted the work of 1862; and as the nature of the service forbids the presumption that he had done anything of moment before, this part of the defence falls. He did important work in 1862, and was paid $25,000 that year. So much is admitted. It is claimed that he did work previously, but no items of evidence are given. Thus we hold that this item stands unbroken.

It is not denied that he received $5,000 from the Cumberland Coal Company, June 14, 1862, but the claim is made, "if anything was received" it was for an old account. What old account? A defence of this character, to amount to anything, must be specific. This is not, and hence we assume that the charge is in all respects true. The most desperate resort to this "previous service" plea, however, is made in the Terre Haute Railroad case. He could not, of course, get behind his oath, as to the receipt; but he does ignore the essential features of the sworn paper, put in as a defense in that case, wherein he recites, as though drawn in 1862, a long list of legal papers,—and this vast work is offered as a justification of the charges made, the receipt of which is acknowledged. Further than that, as declared by the New York Times. "It was in March, 1862, that the railroad was sold at public auction to SAMUEL J. TILDEN and others, nominated as a Purchasing Committee; it was in June of the same year that the formal conveyance of the Trustees and Master Commissioners were effected; it was in June that the certificate of corporation of the new company was filed and its directors appointed; it was in June that the new board, of which Mr. TILDEN was a member, held its first meeting and referred certain important resolutions to its counsel, SAMUEL J. TILDEN, and it was at various dates in the same year that the final deeds of trust were executed, the distribution of new bonds effected, and the "reconstruction" job wound up, very much to the profit of SAMUEL J. TILDEN." In brief, he "earned," as well as received, his $20,000 in 1862.

The paper of SINNOTT denies that he received, in 1862, any moneys from the Chicago and Northwestern Company; but it does not deny that he "earned" such moneys. The $1,000 Balance Dry Dock Company receipt is admitted. It has been discovered, since the first charge was made of overreceipts, in 1862, that he received that year, from the Union Pacific Railroad, $25,000, though not yet certainly known when earned. Of general income in 1862, from interest, dividends, and the like, he had $12,000—against which deductions could not exceed $6,500. Taking all the items not squarely answered, as good, and allowing all that are clearly denied, and adding in the two additional items mentioned, and we have this result: Total receipts for 1862, $111,000. Amount sworn to, $7,118.

It will be noticed, that with the exception of two items, totally denied and allowed, the only plea made is, that while he received $76,000, all this money except $7,118, was earned previously to 1862! This is the entire defence. To put it differently,—he claims, that while he had of collectable debts, resulting from previous practice, $76,000, which he actually collected in 1862, that during that year, with all its activities, and with his increasing reputation, he only made, net, $7,118. This is precisely what the defense amounts to. Does any sane man believe it? Is there enough plausibility in it to deserve a moment's credit?

DEATH OF REV. WM. D. HOWARD, D. D.

The countless friends of Doctor HOWARD were startled, as by a clap of thunder in a clear day, by the news of his sudden and wholly unlooked for death yesterday morning. The good man had risen in the morning and breakfasted in his usual apparently robust health. Shortly after he was seized by a pain which quickly grew alarming. Medical aid was promptly summoned, but within two hours of the attack he was a corpse. The fatal cause was pronounced rheumatism of the heart. The Doctor during the summer had symptoms of muscular rheumatism, we believe, in the arms and side, but these had subsided, and no apprehensions were felt by himself or his family of his impending death. What shadows we are! What shadows we pursue!

Doctor HOWARD was born at Philadelphia in July, A. D. 1814, and was therefore in the sixty-third year of his age. Lafayette College was his Academic Alma Mater. His theological studies were directed by the venerable Doctor WILLIAM NEIL, of Philadelphia. His first pastorate was of the Presbyterian Church at Frankford, then a populous manufacturing suburb of Philadelphia, where he continued for nine or ten years; from Frankford he was called to succeed the Rev. R. DUNLAP in the pastorate of the venerable Second Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, a post of high duty, which he has adorned by able and faithful ministrations, and always with great acceptance to a large, wealthy and inteligent congregation by whom he was ever greatly beloved. He came to this city in May, 1849, and the continuity of his labors among his loving flock has been interupted only by his visitation of the sick in the hospitals during the late civil war, relative to which on his return he preached a number of most touching and soul stirring sermons. We have spoken of the love felt for him by the people of his charge; it is due to his memory to add that he was a general favorite and maintained the most friendly relations with clerical and lay Christians of all denominations, by whom, as well as by his own people, his death comes as a grievous shock, and will be lamented as for the loss of one beloved by all. He was a faithful parochial visitor, a scholarly, earnest and logical preacher, whose place it will be difficult to supply. It was the opinion of many that—albeit his head was filled with intellectual and theological lore—it was rather an auxiliary of his large, pious and benevolent heart, than master, as between the two is customary.

We join, as we know our readers will, in sympathies and lamentations with his stricken and bereaved family and his sorrowing church.

THE LAW OF CARRIERS.

How a Chicago Boy Managed a Difficult Case.

A clever young boy, living on Prairie avenue, has had his life made a burden to him by the impositions of a young widow, who boards with his pa and ma. She is always sending him on errands, and, when he does them, instead of giving him a quarter, or even saying "Thank you!" she pitches into him for being so long, or doing it so badly. The trodden boy turned at last, and last week, when she sent him up to a hair store, on West Madison street, with her wealth of golden ringlets to have a curl put into them, he just leaned pensively over the railing of the bridge and let a stream of jute and things that would have made Berenice or Mrs. S. A. Allen jealous cascade into the gently-rippling stream. Then he went home, reaching the paternal domicile just as the family was sitting down to tea. Said the young widow: "Charley, did you deliver my parcel? When did they say it would be done? What a long time you were gone. If I were a boy I could have gone there and back twice in the time." "Yes'm," he replied meekly. "Well, when will it be done?" "They didn't say. "Didn't say? Didn't you give them the parcel?" "No, 'm; I found it, but I lost the things." "Lost the things? How?" "They fell into the river." "Well, you are a nice boy to send on a message. If I was your father I'd take the hide off'n you with a stick." "But, madam," replied the boy with dignity, "you are not father, nor yet my mother. (Sensation.) Besides, not being a common carrier, and not having entered into a contract with you to carry your parcel for and in consideration of any sum, I have incurred no liability, and am liable to no penalty. If I had undertaken to carry the parcel for my own particular profit, my father even would not have been responsible for its loss (see Butler vs. Basing, 2 C. & P. 614) unless, indeed, he paid me smaller wages because of the opportunity thus afforded me to make small sums. On this point I will not quote Dwight vs. Brewster, 1 Pickering (Miss.) 50, but, rising from the law to the equity of the case, I have only to say——" But before he could say it his father had moved the young Chief Justice from the room, and in the safe seclusion of the back shed, engaged in friendly remonstrance with him. The young widow shed a grateful wink at him on his return, while the boy went up-stairs and slept on all-fours like a mule. Despairing of obtaining justice, or even a hearing at that tribunal, the boy has taken an appeal to his mother's supreme court, where he will bring the case up for final adjudication on a writ of certiorari, obtained by putting up a lock of that young widow's false golden hair in a piece of silver paper, and stowing it away in his pa's pocket the evening after his mother had given her husband a letter to post. The boy thinks his ma will look through his pockets, and, as her hair is black and she is very jealous, he has no doubt whatever but that the decision will be reversed with heavy damages against the widow.

How it Came About.

"Mawning mister," said Lucy Kelley her black face appearing in front of the bar.

"I should think you'd feel pretty cheap," replied his Honor, as he finished writing her name.

"Well, I 'spose I do. Times are hard an' I 'spose de price of folks is down 'cordingly. Still, I shouldn't like to be traded off for a melon."

"You'd like to raise another row, wouldn't you?"

"No, sah, de trouble dat I had wid Mrs. Brown has been americably settled, an' all is joy and peace."

"You settled it by slapping her mouth, I understand?"

"Just so, sah. I intended to hit her on de foot, but she doged and de blow fell on her mouf."

"But you screamed and screeched and raised the whole of Kaintuck."

"I was calling for the policers, sah. Dey doan' hear right smart, an' I had to holler purty high."

"Yes—ahem—well, I guess you won't holler any more for thirty days to come."

"Does you inten' to be hard on a poor colored women, Jedge?. Jist remember dat times are hard—awful hard."

"Thirty days," he answered.

"Is dere no retraction?"

"None."

"Has dis poor chile got to go up?"

"She has."

"Wid funeral expenses thrown in?"

"I suppose so."

"Den I shall be dead when de sun sits—dead behind de ba's, an' you, Jedge, will be de murdereh!"

Some catarrh snuff which Bijah gave her seemed to put her in better spirits, and she agreed to live for his sake.—Detroit Free Press

Opening a Car Window.

It requires six men, according to the San Francisco News Letter, to put up a car window. A young lady gets in, and having humped around in her seat for about five minutes, she turns and requests the gentleman just behind her to perform that service. This is a near-sighted individual, who peers around the window frame some time for the catch, and then—of course the window sticks—jerks his finger nail half off, and sits down with a red face, amid the giggling of the school girls opposite. Next, the man in the front seat puts his lavender-colored knee on a paper of cherries beside him, clutches and yanks at the knob, and finally falls over into the young lady's lap. The cause of all this misery now remarks that "it doesn't matter," and then smiles sweetly at a pale young man with long hair. This martyr turns white, rises, and buttons up his coat for the death struggle. On the eleventh pull he bursts a blood vessel somewhere, and goes into the toilet compartment to bleed. A simple-minded mechanic now comes forward with his tool bag, from which he takes a crowbar. Just when he is about to use this the conductor happens by, and slides the window airily up with a gentle twist of the wrist.

Why He was Particular.

PERSONAL—The advertiser desires to make the acquaintance of a lady of refinement and good looks, 5 feet 4½ inches high, and weighing about 136 pounds, bust measure 39 inches; waist measure 28¾ inches; size of boot, 3¾; ditto of glove, 5¾; complexion pronounced brunette, deep hazel eyes, with a view to matrimony. Address W., 1,798 Tribune office.

"Seems to me you're mighty particular about the size and kind of wife you want," obverved the advertising clerk. "Well, perhaps I am, but you see my wife died before we had been married long, and she hadn't begun to half wear out her clothes, and her father gave her an awful sight of 'em, so it seems to me kinder like flying in the face of Providence when silk and things is so dear and the country laboring in the throes of a financial convulsion to take another mate, and let the moths break through, and rust and corrupt all them duds. So I just want a wife to match all them things."

A Conundrum.

The following, from the last number of "Walford's Old and New London," may interest some of our readers:

"In a church that is finished with mullion and gable,
With altar and reredos, with gargoyle and groin,
The penitents' dresses are sealskin and sable,
The odor of Sanctity's Eau de Cologne.
But if only could Lucifer, flying from Hades,
Gaze down on this crowd with panniers and paints,
He could say, as he looked at the lords and the ladies,
O! where is 'All Sinners,' if this is 'All Saints?'"

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ PROFESSIONAL NOTICE.
Drs. Jordan and Davieson
Principals of the Institution of Anatomy, 807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Lecturers on Anatomy, Physiology and Science, inform their friends and patients that they have again opened a branch office for the practice of their profession at No. 2 EIGHTH STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA., where one of the firm may be confidentially consulted, more especially in all those cases of diseases and debility, for the treatment of which they are so justly celebrated. It is too well known that hundreds, nay thousands suffer from the effects of early indiscretion and seek in vain for relief, for none but the educated physician who has made these subjects a specialty is likely to succeed in restoring the patient to health and strength. To all such Drs. Jordan and Davieson offer certain and speedy relief, and undertake no cases but those in which they are able to guarantee a safe, certain and permanent cure. Their important Medical Work may be had from their office, No. 2 Eighth street, on receipt of 25 cents, and also as usual from their head establishment, 1625 Filbert street, Philadelphia. Hours of consultation from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M., and from 5 P. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays from 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Every case is strictly confidential.

Money [illegible] The customs receipts were $333,000.

The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $48,000. The clearings were $27,000,000. Sterling was steady at 482½a484. Gold opened at 109⅞ and closed at 110, with sales in the interim at 110¼. The borrowing rates were 2 to 3. At the close loans were made flat. Governments were strong and a fraction higher in some instances. Railroad bonds were strong, with a sharp advance in coal road shares. State securities were strong for Missouri 6s and Tennessee old. The remainder of the list was dull. The stock market was weak in early dealings, and prices declined ¼ to 1½ per cent. in active stocks, but towards noon a firmer feeling set in, and a recovery took place in some instances. The volume of business was smaller than yesterday, and the market free from excitement. New York Central was one of the leading features, declining from 97⅞ to 97 regular and from 96⅝ to 95 seller 60. Harlem declined to 131 regular and to 130 seller 30. Pacific Mail advanced from 23⅛ to 23⅝. Western Union fell off from 70⅝ to 69⅝, and later rose to 70⅝. New Jersey Central declined from 27 to 25⅝, and afterwards rose to 27⅜. Delaware, Lackawanna & Western ranged between 77 and 77⅞. Sales were also made at 74a74½ seller 60 days. Delaware and Hudson Canal declined to 68 regular and 65 seller 60 days. Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph advanced to 17¾. In the afternoon speculation generally was firm, and closed with a further advance in some shares. In late dealings New Jersey Central was a feature, the stock being active, and rising to 28 on rumors that the agent of private miners in the Lehigh Valley had had some difficulty with Judge Packer's road, and was in negotiation with the New Jersey Central road for the transportation of coal over their lines. Delaware and Hudson Canal was firm at 68⅛a68⅜, and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western at 77⅝. Pacific Mail advanced to 24⅛, and Rock Island to 104⅜. St. Paul preferred declined to 62⅛, and common was steady at 30⅝a30¾. Northwest common fell off to 36⅛, and preferred was firm at 61⅜a61⅝. New York Central at the close was quiet and strong at 97⅛a97⅜. Lake Shore closed at 53⅝, and Western Union at 70⅞. Michigan Central declined to 40⅝, and rallied to 41 at the close. The transactions aggregated 80,000 shares, of which 12,000 were Pacific Mail, 3,000 Western Union, 3,700 Rock Island, 12,000 Lake Shore, 6,000 New York Central, 9,000 Michigan Central, 14,000 New Jersey Central, and 9,000 Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, September 22, 1876.

The general merchandise markets continue fairly active, but the leading articles present no new features deserving of special notice, excepting that Wheat closed lower in Chicago on Thursday. Flour firmer, with a fair trade but unchanged. Provisions in fair demand but easy in price. Petroleum has stiffened up again. Wool continues firm, and there is an increasing demand for Pig Iron.

APPLES—The supply in our market, although not large is fully equal to the demand, and prices are no better; ranging from $1 to 1.50 ⅌ bbl.

The supply of Oats continues light, scarcely equal to the demand, and prices are strong but unchanged; mixed, 35a36; white, 37a38. THE IRON TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, September 22, 1876.

Pittsburgh.

PIG IRON—The market continues steady with a fair consumptive demand, but, notwithstanding good mill irons are in light stock and are held with considerable firmness, prices have undergone no quotable change since the date of our last review. As the mills are nearly all in operation, it is evident that the consumption of the raw article is considerably larger than it has been for several months, but the inquiry is chiefly for small lots, there is no disposition manifested to anticipate future wants, and consumers claim that the raw article is bringing more money relatively than the products. Following sales were reported:

MANUFACTURED IRON—There is a continued fair demand for finished irons generally particularly for Sheet and Hoop, and many of the leading specialities, and most of our manufacturers are busy; orders are coming forward pretty freely, both from the east and west, and some mills are running double turn. There is very general complaint, however, in regard to prices, which are being shaved so very close that there is little or no margin for profit. Quotations may be fairly given on a basis of 2c for bars, although some makers, we understand, are refusing to sell under 2.20.

NAILS—There is a continued steady demand, and from what we can learn, our manufacturers have orders just now sufficient to absorb the entire production; moreover, prices are firm and fully sustained. The Western Nail Association is in strong and vigorous condition, and the rates fixed by the Association are being fully adhered to. We continue to quote: $2.85, 60 days, for less than 200 kegs, and $2.75, 60days, for orders of 200 kegs and upwards, with two ⅌ cent. off for cash.

HORSE AND MULE SHOES—In fair demand but unchanged; Schoenberger & Co., quote at 4½c ⅌ lb, cash, for Horse Shoes, and 5½c, cash, for Mule Shoes.

SCRAP—There is rather more doing in scrap iron, but the inquiry is chiefly for small lots, and prices remain unchanged. No. 1 railroad wrought scrap fairly quotable at $25, 4 mos.

PHILADELPHIA.

As a rule, business is very dull in manufactured iron, and no improvement can be noticed. Plate, Tank and Sheet Iron is more active, and the mills are generally fully employed, with a fair prospect of a good fall trade. Bar Iron is very dull, however, and all the mills are on short time, with no immediate prospect of improvement. Complaints are made that the Western mills are selling delivered here at very low rates; so low, in fact, that our manufacturers decline to compete with them. Prices are, in consequence, very irregular; 2·3c is the nominal quotation, but no large lots could be placed at anything like that price. As covering the whole market, probably 2c to 2·3c may be given as the range. Western prices said to be 2·1c delivered here.

NEW YORK.

The feeling of the trade generally shows a decided improvement, and the sales of pig iron are larger than for some time past. Almost all the companies have made sales at our quotations, the Thomas Co. reporting 3,000 tons. Prices are very firmly maintained, and we know of offers for large quantities of iron at a slight concession from our quotations being declined by the companies. We continue to quote without change: No. 1 Foundry, $22; No. 2 Foundry, $20; Gray Forge, $18a20, many companies holding at the latter figure.—Iron Age.

BRITISH IRON MARKET.

A Sheffield dispatch to the Iron Age, under date of Sept. 20, reports: Scotch Pig—The market is active with an improving demand, and a large business has been done. Prices are firmer. The following are makers' prices:

Garrsherrie No. 1	64s 6d
Coltness No. 1	67s 6d
Glengarnock No. 1	62s 6d
Eglinton No. 1	56s 6d

No change to note in manufactured iron. Rails—There is a better demand for Rails, and a large business has been done. Prices, however, remain weak. We quote Welsh, £5a£5 5s.

BRITISH MANUFACTURES YIELDING TO AMERICAN COMPETITION.

Birmingham advices of the London Times, Aug. 28, say that "English edge tools are losing ground in the north of Europe, owing to the increasing competition of the United States manufacturers, who are sending their goods direct to Hamburg, and offering them in many cases at prices which our producers cannot touch."

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, September 22, 1876.

The Crude market was dull and weak, and prices, as compared with yesterday, were 2½a7½c ⅌ barrel lower; a dispatch this afternoon reported United as having been offered at $3.52½ for old certificates and strictly fresh at $3.54½, with $3.52½ bid. Refined continues dull and nominal; there are no sellers under 26. Philadelphia delivery, 25c bid for October, with no response on the part of sellers. Exporters continue to hold off in expectation of lower prices, but there is not much prospect at the present writing of their expectations being realized.

The Barrel market is weaker; countries, $1.30; city make, $1.40a1.45—2,500 offered at $1.40, spot delivery.

Chicago Lumber Market.

The demand at the docks was again moderate at unchanged prices. About 10 cargoes were sold, leaving 15 or more at the docks. A few country and local buyers were on the market in the morning, but the storm interrupted trade in the afternoon. Piece stuff sold at $7.25a7.50 and common inch at $8a8.50, with medium do. quoted at $9a$12. Lath and shingles were quiet.

At the yards there was little change. The shipments were somewhat larger but the demand was not pressing, and dealers were selling chiefly from their stock, which in some instances is said to be rather large.

Wool.

Harding, Gray & Dewey, of Boston, write as follows: The demand for wool continues quite active, and manufacturers are still free purchasers with more or less speculative inquiry. Prices are again a shade higher for fleeces, and the tendency of the market for all kinds is upward. Stocks of wool are fast disappearing, and holders are so confident in the future of the market that they are quite indifferent about selling.

Henne's Case and Condition.

Mr. Straub, in answer to the statement made by Mr. A. Henne, that he had used the money of the firm to advance its interests, has produced the following:

I, A. Henne, formerly collector of Straub & Ludwig, brewers, of the Sixteenth ward, city of Pittsburgh, do hereby acknowledge that I have fraudulently received of the customers of said firm a sum of three hundred dollars of their money, more or less, and converted and kept the same for my own private use; and further, I have entered and corrected the amounts of the customers and falsified the same to correspond with my accounts with the firm; and further, I cut out a leaf in said firm's books. To satisfy said firm of Straub & Ludwig, I do hereby propose to pay to the firm $75 or $100 to-day, and the balance as soon as the books are settled. Upon this proposition said firm of Straub & Ludwig have consented to withdraw said suit, Valentine Ludwig, prosecutor, authorized by said firm to do so. A. HENNE.

Witness:—JNO. MCCUBERY.
PITTSBURGH, August 14, 1876.

Mr. Straub says they would not have prosecuted had not Henne given no evidence of intention to repay the amount, and was, in their belief, making preparations to escape. The examination of the books shows the deficit to be $918 instead of $300.

CAR INSPECTOR KILLED.

Fatal Accident at the Union Depot Last Night.

At half-past seven o'clock last evening Franz Paul, a car inspector of the Pennsylvania railroad, was run over by a train of cars a short distance above the Union Depot and cut almost in twain. He was under the cars attending to his duty when the accident happened. He was taken to the West Penn Hospital, but did not long survive his injuries. After death his body was taken to his late home at No. 45 Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny. The Coroner has been notified and will hold an inquest to-day.

A CARD.

First National Bank.

PITTSBURGH, September 21, 1876.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

The report published in the GAZETTE of yesterday in reference to a suit in equity in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county, brought by Alexander & Co., and in which this bank is named as one of the plaintiffs which accuses John H. Brown and M. B. Brown of collusion combination and fraudulent dealings, was published without our knowledge or authority, and the contents were unknown to us until we saw it in print. We disclaim any intention of imputing fraud or dishonesty to the parties named, who are of known respectability, and regret exceedingly that this bank should have been published as party to the accusation. In justice to both the Messrs. Browns and the bank you will oblige us by publishing this note in your columns. Yours, respectfully, J. D. SCULLY, Cashier First National Bank of Pittsburgh.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Very Little Business Transacted Yesterday.

A regular meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon, President Slagle in the chair.

A bill for painting a tin sign for the Meat Inspector, a small thing itself, created considerable talk. The bill was presented by Mr. Samuel Musgrave at a previous meeting, but the Board considered the price exorbitant, and referred it to the Finance Committee. President Slagle said he had made some inquiries in regard to it, and Mr. Musgrave had said that the price was an outside one, and larger than would have been asked from a private individual; but, as the Board is a corporation he thought it proper to charge the outside price. The Board reduced the bill five dollars and ordered a warrant for payment.

Some little routine business was transacted and the Board adjourned.

GAS COMMITTEE.

The Pittsburgh Gas Company's Bill—New Lamp Orders.

The Gas Committee of Councils held a meeting yesterday afternoon, Mr. Shipton presiding.

The matter of the bill of the Pittsburgh Gas Company for the first half of the year again came up. It will be remembered that at the meeting of the committee previous to that held yesterday, the bill was ordered paid, less the amount of $10,000 for government tax, which bill had been regularly presented for two or three years and payment always refused. But the amount for the first half of the current year was not to be paid unless the company would consent to give a receipt in full. This the company has since refused to do, and has brought, and will bring, suit for the latter amount (about $25,000. Mr. Shipton was in favor of paying the $15,000 for two or three reasons. One of these was that, if a suit resulted in a verdict against the city for that amount, as it would inevitably do, even if the $10,000 credited was thrown off, the city would still be thrown into the costs, which should be avoided. Another reason was, that if the bill was not paid before the end of the year the money would go into the sinking fund, and next year the appropriations will have to be doubled in order to pay the deficiency. Other members were of the opinion that the matter might as well be settled in the courts immediately as well as wait longer, and have the contested bill continually presented. After a very lengthy discussion it was decided to leave the matter as it now is, and allow the company to bring suit or comply with the terms offered; that is, get a receipt in full, or get no money.

Lamps were ordered to be placed as follows: Ninth and Carson street from Saw Mill Run to city line, and on the temporary bridges, all to be enacted by the West Pittsburgh Gas Company, at $40 each, Second and Stanton avenue, and on Centre avenue at head of gas main; Second or Harrison street, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth streets.

Adjourned.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Little Girl Killed—Narrow Escape of Others—A Bridge Needed.

Millie Kramer, ten years of age, was killed at the Twenty-eighth street crossing of the Allegheny Valley Railroad yesterday about noon. At that point there are a number of tracks running parralel with each other. On one of them a train was standing, but they were cut apart and separated sufficiently to allow pedestrians to pass. Millie Kramer and two other girls were going home to dinner, and crossed the first track between the cars. Owing to the cars obstructing the view, they did not notice that a shifting engine was coming up on the next track and was almost at the crossing. They became bewildered, when the switchtender seeing their danger jumped to the rescue then and saved two. He turned to grab Millie Kramer, but was too late, as he was struck himself while the Kramer girl was knocked down and run over, both legs being almost severed. The switchman was not seriously hurt, but the child's injuries were such that she died in a very short time after the accident. Her father is a fireman on the road, and lives on the hill near the round house of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Accidents at this crossing are of so frequent occurrence that it is certainly time to insist upon the railroad company's compliance with its obligation to prevent them by erecting a bridge over the track. After long continued and persistent efforts, the hospital authorities some time since obtained from the company a contract to erect a bridge and have it completed by the 1st of November this year. Not one step toward the erection of the structure has been, and none is likely to be, taken this year. The unfortunate occurrence of yesterday, which came so near being much more disastrous, should lead those who have influence or authority in the premises to prompt action.

Notice.—For some time past many of our customers have been disappointed in not getting what French bread they wanted at our retail department, No. 18 Fifth avenue. We have increased our facilities and will endeavor hereafter to have a full supply for all.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Meeting on the South Side—Speech of Hon. Ed. McPherson—Meeting at Verona—Local Political Notes, &c.

There was a grand Republican rally last night on the South Side. It was the intention first to hold the meeting in Salisbury Hall, but owing to the fact that the hall was being repaired, it could not be obtained and the meeting was held in Odd Fellows Hall, corner of Sarah and Eighteenth streets.

The meeting was called to order by August Ammon, Esq., on whose motion the following officers were elected:

President—H. A. Collier, Esq.

Vice Presidents—M. S. Humphries, E. Jackson, James Cline, Thomas Shields, John Richardson, J. H. Sorg, J. A. Schneider, B. Erbe, M. Bigg, A. L. Schulz, R. C. Dalzell, M. Bradley.

Secretaries—Reporters of the press.

Mr. Collier on taking the chair said he felt certain that the majorities rolled up for Hayes and Wheeler in November would send all Southern rebels and Northern dough faces at rest for ever.

Lafayette Sykes entertained the audience with several patriotic songs, in the chorus of which the audience joined with unmistakable spirit.

Jacob F. Slagle, Esq., was then introduced by the chairman, and addressed the audience in a speech of half an hour, in which he reviewed briefly the record of the Republican party for the past fifteen years, and that of the Democratic party prior to 1860, and contrasted the two, in which the Republican record did not suffer. He then reviewed the character of Mr. Tilden, and showed conclusively that he was not the man to work the reform that was required by the people in the approaching election.

Hon. Russell Errett was the next speaker introduced. He said he did not desire to make a speech but would simply refer to a few things that had been overlooked by the other speakers, and would not perhaps be referred to by the speakers who were to follow. He referred briefly to the character, politicaly of Gov. Tilden, and contrasted it with that of Gov. Hayes of Ohio, and then referred to the attempted explanation of the charges against Tilden of perjury in swearing to a false return of his income. He said that in the history of the nations it had been the fate of every party that had opposed progress and reform to sink beneath the wave of progres. He called the attention of the audience to the fact that the Democratic candidate in this district had opposed the war, and denounced the soldiers as "Lincoln,s hirlings" and asked if it would not be advisable for the soldiers and those who favored the perpetuation of the union to support those who stood by them during the days when it tried men's souls, than to turn to the support of those who opposed them.

Hon. Edward McFerson was next introduced and addressed the meeting.

Mr McPherson asked what there was in the past history or present attitude of the Democratic party to entitle it to the care of the vast and varied interest of the nation. A brief review of its relation to the chief constitutional and legislative measures which were matured to preserve to the people the civic fruits of the war, would show that the Democratic party, during the entire period, and upon every measure, had been the party of obstruction and opposition. Of course it was unwilling to let slavery die, for slavery had long been a faithful ally, and tightening the chains of the unfortunates had so long been their daily task that it had at last come to be a delight. When, with slavery buried, and the war ended, and reconstruction began, the rebel States, proceeding under the Johnsonian plan to qualify themselves for restoration to their former places in the Union, by concerted action, enacted in 1865 freedmen's codes, under which their late slaves were to be held in a qualified but practical servitude. Our Democratic friends, by their ready acquiescence in this iniquitous usurpation, gave us another proof of how real was their enjoyment of the principle of slavery. When, in the uprising of an indignant people, the Presidential plan of Reconstruction was swept away; and the Congress devised another, and based it upon a new constitutional amendment — the Fourteenth — which first formulated the great idea of National, as distinguished from State citizenship, and which contained provisions to guard from repudiation our public debt—which is to us the price of our indivisible Union—and to guard the treasury from foreseen claims for payment and indemnity from Rebel States, the opposition which these beneficient measures provoked from the entire Democratic party, attested how faithful it still was to its traditional duties at the shrines of slavery and rebellion. When, with slavery dead, freedmen's codes annulled, and national citizenship secured, it became necessary to give legislative sanction to the civil rights thus acquired, who can fail to recall the chorus of indignation when leaped from Democratic threats as they predicted that in this measure were to be found the deeds of debauchment to the white and death to our whole Anglo-Saxon civilization? The Democratic party has, by violence and intimidation, by murder, wrested State after State from the political domination preferred by its voters, and is preparing to wield them now, unitedly in order there to achieve the election of their candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency. To the man who doubts on this subject Mr. McPherson commended General Sheridan's report to the Secretary of War in January, 1875, as to Louisiana, in which he states that, from 1868 to that date, over 3,000 persons had been killed and wounded "on account of their political sentiments." Combinations to starve labor by denying it employment or credit, are supplemented, when necessary, by the use of fire-arms, either to terrify from voting at all, or to force into compliance with these tyrannical demands, until in most of the States of the South, the freedom of the ballot has been actually and entirely destroyed, all, too, in the name of Democracy.

The time may come in the history of the country when the restoration of the Democratic party to power may be a duty; but it will be after it has washed the blood from its garments, mourned in sackcloth and ashes over its crimes, and done deeds meet for repentance. A party gains character "by its record, not by a prospectus." At this time, neither the past record, nor the present attitude of the Democratic party, give the country the least assurance of safety from it—not any more than in 1860. Then Democratic principles were unable to give us a remedy. Now they are as incapable of meeting this great emergency.

In other respects the Democratic party is a perpetual menace to the country. As far back as 1873 the scheme was broached of obtaining from the United States Treasury four hundred millions of dollars in compensation for slaves emancipated; and no less a conspicuous person than Robert M. T. Hunter, of Virginia, wrote a letter, October 31, 1873, now in print, in which he points out a mode deemed by him practicable for avoiding the Fourteenth Amendment, and securing this sum for the late slave-holding class. He takes the ground that the claim for compensation rests upon the alleged taking by the Government of their property for public uses; that the claim is of the individual owner; that the States had no power to divest it, and that it exists as a reasonable claim for "just compensation" under the Constitution. A Congressional bill has not yet been presented, but the way has thus been opened for it. But at the last session of Congress several other alarming bills were presented. Mr. McPherson said he had gone to Washington and procured copies of the official print of these bills, lest doubt might be alleged of their existence, and he called attention to these provisions. There are several of them. And their chief feature is, that they break down the distinction which has for years been maintained between those citizens of the Southern States who were during the war loyal to the government of the United States and those who were not. One of these bills proposes to repeal the law of 1867, which prohibits the payment of old claims, prior to 1861, to any persons who promoted the rebellion. Another proposes to repeal that law, and "all other laws of similar character." Another proposes to authorize the Secretary of War to "allow reasonable compensation to all citizens of the United States for the use and occupation of their property by the United States army, or any part of it, during the late civil war," and making the affidavit of the claimant or any other reputable citizen sufficient proof to the fact of the use. Another bill authorizes "all citizens of the United States" with claims or losses, or supplies taken or furnished for the use of the army, including the use and loss of vessels or boats, to bring a suit against the United States, and the amount found due shall be paid out of the general appropriation for private claims. This bill also repeals all laws which interfere with this proposed general spoliation of the Treasury. Several other bills were introduced for the return of the $68,000,000 of cotton tax collected by the United States between 1863 and 1868. These bills represent claims to the extent of probably three thousand millions of dollars. To the Southern Claims Commission, for payment to loyal citizens for supplies taken, 22,298 cases have been presented, claiming $60,258,150. If it be estimated that the disloyal claims exceed the loyal in the proportion of only thirty to one, and are not of higher average amount, we have a total in these alone of nearly two thousand millions. To the Southern rebel mind, this claim is equitable; and they are sincerely in favor of it. If the Northern Democratic mind object to these projects, it would be interesting to hear them say so, and give the reasons why they think they should not be.

The meeting then adjourned.

A large and enthusiastic Republican meeting was held in Verona last night. John McD. Crossan, Esq., presided, assisted by the following Vice Presidents: Wm. A. Tomlinson, James Dalzell, P. F. Bannow, Captain Elwood, Daniel Stotler and A. H. Rowand, Jr. Secretaries: James McIlwaine and James Marshall.

Thomas M. Bayne delivered a speech, after which Prof. W. J. Pope sang several of his inimitable campaign songs. The Hayes and Wheeler marching club of the borough, fully equipped and 150 strong, were out under command of Captain Stotler. Verona will give a good account of itself on the 7th of November next.

A Hayes and Wheeler marching club, numbering sixty members, was organized in the Eighteenth ward, Thursday evening. An election of officers was held, with the following result: Captain, Galen Andrews; First Lieutenant, Adam Shafer; Second Lieutenant, Sam. Garrison. Light colored uniforms have been ordered for the members, and some day next week a handsome flag will be presented to the club.

The Hayes and Wheeler club of Union township held a meeting at the public school house in that township Thursday evening. Mr. Archibald presiding. The uniforms were distributed and money subscribed to procure drums for a drum corp. The glee club was present and gave zest to meeting with a number of excellent songs. The club decided to go to Mansfield Tuesday evening.

The Twenty-fourth and Twenty fifth wards marching club were presented with a beautiful silk flag by the ladies of the wards at West's Hall last evening.

A Republican meeting will be held on Tuesday evening at Mansfield, to be addressed by Major A. M. Brown and Jacob F. Slagle, Esq. The marching clubs will turn out.

The Republicans of Beaver county had a grand rally at Beaver, Thursday. The meeting, which was one of the largest held in that county, was addressed by Hon. Ed. McPherson and Jacob F. Slagle, Esq.

POINT POVERTIES.

The Way Some People Make Their Living.

No adage is more true than that "One-half the world does not know how the other half lives." A GAZETTE reporter strolled down to the Point yesterday in an unhopeful hunt for items, and there saw and heard some things to him before unknown. Up on the high trestle work of the new bridge men were busily at work putting up the heavy links of the massive chains that are to support the flexible yet firm highway over the river. The solid abutments, the towering piers, and the lofty, intricate, yet harmonious trestling, the sounding hammers, and the noisy, puffing engine, were evidences of wealth, industry, and the power and triumphs of man. On the bosom of the river numerous snorting tugs and graceful steamboats were ploughing the waters, with the seeming endowment of proud life. Across from the opposite banks came wafted the music of industry and competence from clashing and crashing machinery in numerous mills. Overhead the bright sun was shining, sending down its health and life-giving beams in a manner to stir the sluggish blood, quicken the pulses and lift the spirits. All about apparently was life and animation, and no shadow of sorrow, or poverty and wretchedness.

But only apparently. On the incline plane, constructed of rubbish and dirt, which forms the approach to the new bridge, were three or four dilapidated-looking wagons unloading further deposits of cinders and other dirt. At one of the wagons was a wretchedly clad old woman on the tailboard, and one no better standing on the front wheel, each eagerly scraping in the dirt for bits of broken glass, pieces of old iron, and similar articles. Down below the other wagons were other women and children, all busily engaged in the same task, and each striving to be nearest the wagon, unmindful whether the showering dirt fell upon them or not.

The reporter struck by the sight so singular and so unusual, approached one of the women to interrogate her. He got no satisfaction further than a request to mind his own business, accompanied by a curious stare. Nothing daunted, the reporter approached another one of the old women.

"What are you looking for?" was the question asked.

"Anything I can find," she answered.

That was more encouraging, and the interrogatories were continued. In an old bucket at the side of the woman was an astonishing collection of odds and ends in the utmost state of dilapidation. Every conceivable article that could be cast away as utterly and entirely useless was there. And yet the woman said she would find sale for them. Pieces of iron and of glass seemed to predominate and were the most eagerly sought for.

"Yes, I make my living in this way," the woman answered to a question. "I don't make much, but I don't starve, and I'd rather do it than go to the Poor house. I can't work, and I couldn't get it if I wanted. No, I have no children; that is young ones. I expect I've got two boys living some place, but I don't know where. You see that woman with the two children there? [They were on the edge of the bank, close up to a wagon, and half the dirt being shoveled out, fell on them before it reached the ground.] Well, them's her children. They've got to do it or do without anything to eat. Some of them boys there don't have to do this. They just do it to get money to spend, but all of us you see down on this side of the bank have got to do it. Oh, we don't mind the dirt, it don't hurt us, and I guess it won't hurt our clothes. I don't mind the smell; I don't notice it, and if I did it'd be all the same. We've got to live."

Of course this statement the woman did not make connectedly; in fact it took much questioning to get it out of her. She was rather inclined to go off into a rambling pursuit of a certain train of thought when started by a question; but the above is the substance of her story. The brightness of the day, the numerous attractions, the busy life about her and her companions, was nothing to her or to them. They toiled on, and the reporter left them toiling on—groveling in the revolting dirt for the merest pittance, and a scanty and precarious living.

The Melancholy Days of Autumn

Are fast approaching, when the old toper haunts the liquor shop and begins peering around for warm drinks, and when parties who have common sense and a due regard for health, have begun a tour of the shoe stores, in order to ascertain where the best and cheapest boots and shoes may be had. And here is the value of a newspaper. It directs you to the precise locality, thus avoiding a wearisome search. The place is 129 Federal street, Allegheny, and the proprietor of this well-filled shoe house is R. Taggart, who conducts his business on a system very different from most dealers, viz.: In buying for cash, and therefore buys at the lowest prices; sells for cash, makes no bad debts, and therefore is enabled to sell at the very lowest figures, which are twenty per cent. lower than other shoe houses.

To Be or Not to Be.

Shakspeare said many good things, and discussed matters in quite a philosophic way, but had he lived in our day and in our city, most likely the burden of his debate would have been whether, it were better for the man or youth needing a suit of new clothes to go to some merchant tailoring house of aristocratic pretensions, pay one price for the suit and another price for the name of having it manufactured at an establishment with a high-sounding name, or to go to Eisner & Phillips, corner Wood street and Fifth avenue, get a suit ready-made with equally as good material, and fit just as good with only one price to pay and that a very low one. There are more curious things in the clothing business than are dreamed of in the philosophy of many, which can be explained by a visit to this reputable clothing house.

A part of our earlier editions of yesterday contained a notice which cast decidedly injurious innuendoes on the character of our friends, the Messrs. Kleber & Bro., agents for the Steinway pianos. We stopped the press as soon as we discovered the nature of the notice, and had the same taken out of the forms. We suppose the publication should prove of but small annoyance to the gentlemen, since they could safely place reliance upon their well established character in a community in which they have so successfully carried on business for more than a quarter of a century.

AN INVALUABLE HISTORY.

A Splendid Speciman of Book Making—The Story of Allegheny County's Growth—An Attractive and Valuable Contribution to the Literature of the Day—A Volume That Should be in Every Public and Private Library of our County.

Upon several occasions we have made brief reference to a prospective volume which was being prepared by Messrs. L. H. Everts & Co., detailing the story of the origin, rise and progress of Allegheny county. Yesterday we had the pleasure of examining an advance copy of the work, and were agreeably surprised to find that the projectors had more than fulfilled their promises by making a book that is a marvel of typographical and literary excellence and accuracy. We have never examined a volume more perfect in all its parts, and know of none which would be more attractive to any resident of our county who has the least pride of locality.

The work undertaken by the gentlemen who prepared this history, was not a light task. Attempts of a similar character have been made in other years, but they all fell short of the standard, and before this volume was put to press, there was no history of Allegheny county, that could in any measure be termed full in detail, or entirely accurate in its records. Recognizing the importance of making a perfect work, or none at all, Messrs. Everts & Co. first secured the services of scholars and gentlemen, who were as painstaking to gather the facts as they were gifted with the pen. The entire work was under the general supervision of J. R. Fariss, Esq., one of the members of the firm, and one in every way competent—as the result so well demonstrates. Under his direction, every available book or manuscript, in public or private hands, was diligently searched in quest of facts, translations were made from old records, reminiscences gathered from old letters—in short no source of information was left unexplored. A mass of material was thus secured which was formidable, but which under the skillful manipulation of the historian, was put into connected form, and presented in such an attractive literary garb, that the volume thus produced becomes invaluable, both for its history and its literary excellence.

The plan of the work, as seen in the completed volume, is quite plain and simple, but it was no ordinary task to bring order out of the chaotic mass of facts, which had previously been gathered from so many different sources. Commencing with the earliest period in the history of this section of the State, full details are given of the state of affairs here at that time; of the early Indian wars; the organization of the county; the incipiency of our trade, manufactures, and political importance; the gradual growth of the cities of the county; the increase in population, wealth and business; the establishments of public schools, colleges, &c.; the more rapid advance in all material prosperity in later years; and lastly, a full survey of our geographic, geologic and topographic features, and of the importance of our present trade, agriculture, educational, benevolent, religious, and manufacturing interests. Each of these separate departments is treated of distinctively, and an immense amount of information is crowded into a huge compass. No important fact in all our history is omitted; the work is indeed a marvel of condensation. An idea of the scope of the work may be had from the fact that it gives us a glimpse of the history of the aborigines who swarmed over these grounds and disputed with the beasts of the forests for supremacy before the white man came; while in the close of the work we have a roster of all the soldiers from this country who were engaged in the Mexican war, war of 1812, and the late rebellion, with a list of the dead and a biographical sketch of prominent officers, in all comprising about 22,000 names.

In addition, however, to the mass of historical data pertaining to the country, in general, the volume is made doubly interesting by sketches of proimnent men of the past and present time, and of public institutions, familiar in our history. The sketches have been prepared from data only after indefatigable labor. They are as near correct as historical sketches can be, and from them we have many interesting details concerning the pioneers who led the van of our progress, and of some of the living present who are doing much to maintain our supremacy, in business and in all departments where the results of superiority in brain and brawn are exemplified. Then there are sketches of our public institutions, such as the Western Pennsylvania Hospital at Dixmont, the Pittsburgh High School, our public schools, Reform School, Home for the Friendless, County and City Poor Houses, &c., which have given the county such a wide fame for philanthropy and public spirit. In this respect the book is without a fault.

While, however, attention was thus paid to the gathering of facts, and their proper arrangement, literary excellence was not overlooked. For vivid description, terse expression, and pure Anglo-Saxon the work is of the highest order of merit. Details and statistics, which, however important, might not have been interesting to the general reader, are so presented that the work throughout is as interesting as a romance. There is no attempt at fine writing, but the simple beauty of the language rivets attention at once, and captivates the reader's fancy from the outstart. To the lover of the beautiful in literature the reading of this book, aside even from the information it gives, will be a delight for its literary style.

Lastly, but not leastly, this history is a superb volume in the way of illustration, and in its typographical make-up. It is printed on the finest book paper, tinted, and with clear type. There are about eighty illustrations, embracing maps of original surveys, old Fort Pitt, a general map of the the county, of hill and dale, and water scenery in various parts of the county, public buildings, private residences of the olden time, and palatial residences of the present, and fine portraits of a number of eminent gentlemen, of whom biographical sketches are given. Some of these illustrations occupy a full page and others half a page. All are clear and distinct and altogether form a collection of pictures that would of itself make a very handsome volume.

We have thus touched upon the salient features of a work that we think ought to be in every public and private library in Allegheny county. Messrs. Everts & Co. have done their work well, and have produced a book that for typographical beauty and historical excellence has no superior within our knowledge. We are glad to note their signal success, and take pleasure in thus making reference to a volume that has long been needed, and that will find a ready welcome among the intelligent public of our county.

OBITUARY.

Rev. W. D. Howard, D. D.

This very estimable gentleman, for many years pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, at the corner of Penn and Seventh streets, died quite unexpectedly yesterday morning at his residence, No. 64 Beach street, Allegheny. During a recent visit to the sea-shore he contracted a cold, but it was at no time serious enough to be to him a source of uneasiness or even of much annoyance. When he got up yesterday morning he felt as well as ever, and, as usual, ate breakfast with the members of his family. At half past nine o'clock he got seriously ill, and physicians were quickly summoned to attend him. But the hand of death was on him and all their efforts to save him were unavailing. About half past ten o'clock he died, and there passed from life one of the best and purest of men. The doctors attribute his death to rheumatism of the heart.

On the 28th of July, 1814, Dr. Howard was born in Philadelphia. After a course at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., he graduated there, and subsequently studied theology privately with Rev. Dr. Wm. Neill, of Philadelphia. In 1838 at Frankford, then a suburban district of Philadelphia, but now included within the city limits, Dr. Howard entered upon his first pastoral charge. After laboring there for ten years he resigned and came to this city in response to a call from the congregation of the Second Presbyterian Church, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Rev. Robert Dunlap. He acceptably discharged the duties of that position for twenty-six years, and now, after thirty-five years' service in the cause of Christ, he has been called to receive his reward. On the 17th of May, 1874, at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his call to the pulpit of the Second church, he gave an account of his coming to this city, and from it we make the following extract: "On the 17th of May, 1849, there arrived in this city a minister of the gospel, who a short time before had been unanimously elected pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh. He reached here in a canal boat, and although he had had the advantage of traveling a third of the way by railroad, the journey between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh occupied four days. Not a single rail, at that time, reached this city from any direction. The new minister was not quite thirty-five years old, and had spent over ten years in the ministry in a pleasant Northern suburb of his native city of Philadelphia. On the evening of the 16th of the same month, in the presence of a large congregation, including many delegates of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which was to meet on the following day, he was installed pastor of the congregation he had come to serve." Additional reference to the decease of Mr. Howard will be found this morning in our editorial columns.

The Autumn of 1876.

The Summer is almost ended and the harvest of travel will soon be past, and the millions of people that have been looking upon the world's grandest productions, will soon have settled down in their homes. How great and sudden the change, to turn away from the splendor of "all nations" to spend the "melancholy days" of Autumn in the dusty homes of our city; but the sting of this sudden change can be taken away by putting into the house some of the elegant designs of Carpets, Druggets and Oil Cloths, now shown at the "World's Exhibition." We will have in our fall stock, which we are now receiving, many of the same patterns that are now exhibited at the Centennial by the leading manufacturers of this country. VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medicinal Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system, every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female weakness, Leucorrhœa, raising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervous and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and it is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

UNQUALIFIED APPRECIATION.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1875.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

Dear Sir—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merit of VEGETINE. My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried. I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness.

While performing my duties as a Police officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness. I unhesitatingly recommend VEGETINE and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of a debilitated or impoverished state of the blood its effects are really wonderful; and for all complaints arising form an impure state of the blood it appears to work like a charm, and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which VEGETINE can be used with injurious results, and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about VEGETINE. WM. B. HILL,
Police Station 4.

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

CHARLESTOWN, March 19, 1869.

H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have used your blood preparation (VEGETINE) in my family for several years, and think that, for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors, or Rheumatic Affections, it cannot be excelled; and, as a blood-purifier and spring medicine, it is the best thing I have ever used; and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. A. A. DINSMORE,
19 Russell street.

A Source of Great Anxiety.

THE Celina has been sold at Nashville to Wiley Sims for $6,000 cash.

THE citizens of Vanceburg, Ky., have given the Jno. Kyle a new bell.

THE Rover and barges will take their departure for St. Louis to-day.

THE I. S. Kiefer will depart for Huntington today, with a tow of refined oil.

THE C. H. Durfee sprung her butts in Red River, and went in dock at New Orleans.

CAPT. NAT BALDWIN has sold his interest in the Sandy No. 2 for $6,000 to parties in the south.

THE Salt Valley, Captain Dewolfe, is due from Ironton to-morrow, and will return on Monday at 4 P. M.

THE Exchange, as will be seen by card, has reentered the Pittsburgh and Portsmouth trade, and will leave here every Tuesday.

THE Granite State, from Portsmouth, arrived and departed, with a good trip each way. Pilots—Wm. Abrams and Robert Gordon.

CAPT. J. J. DARRAGH, who was in St. Louis on a visit to his family, left for Memphis on Wednesday to join his boat, the Belle of Texas.

THE Tom Dodsworth arrived about 2 P. M. yesterday, with a big tow of empty barges, and it was said that she would start back again with a tow of coal.

THE Ella will withdraw from the White River line, and enter St. Francis River, as soon as the new steamer Hard Cash arrives at Memphis, from the Ohio.

MR. TIMOTHY MORGAN, an old and well-known steamboat engineer, who recently came home from the South in ill-health died Wednesday at his residence in Cincinnati.

THE Evansville Courier: Capt. Mike Campbell has sold the Bettie Gilbert to parties at Wheeling, for $2,805. He will contract for a new boat with some of our builders here.

CAPT. R. D. MARBLE telegraphs from Monroe, La., to New Orleans parties, under date of the 17th inst., that "the Tunnie Baker will be down in two weeks for repairs."

MR. ALEX. YOUNG has quit the Glasgow, and will be chief clerk of Capt. Jno Woodburn's Arkansas River steamer, Fanny Moore. Mr. Jos. Moyer is now chief-clerk of the Glasgow.

THE current of the river channel is cutting across Fox Island, above Austin, some sixty miles below Memphis, and from appearances, the regular boat landing will ere long be directly at Austin, instead of a mile below.

THE Hard Cash is the second boat James Rees has built this season for the Memphis trade, and we are in hopes that he will soon get some more orders, Mr. Rees has attained an enviable reputation for doing good, honest work.

THE Katie P. Kountz left St. Louis with 200 tons of ore, 1,000 sks feed, 10 tons broom corn for Pittsburgh, and 1,500 bbls flour, 600 sks feed, 50 tons splice bars, 300 sks grass seed, and 50 tons miscellaneous freight for Cincinnati.

THE new steamer Hard Cash, just completed here by Capt. Jas. Rees, for the Memphis and White river trade, is pronounced, by all who have seen her, to be one of the staunchest and best boat that has been built here for some time. She will take her departure to-day without fail, and will receipt through to all points on Arkansas River. Capt. Jas. H. Rees is in command, and Mr. G. Wash Floyd is in charge of the office.

THE Alice Brown was so unfortunate, on Thursday evening, as to run against the U. S. snagboat E. A. Woodruff at Glass House with her tow, causing the tow to break loose from the towboat and drift down the river. Two of the boats sank almost instantly, while three more grounded near the foot of Brunot. There was but one boat out of the six kept afloat; it was safely landed some distance below. The Woodruff sustained little or no damage.

CAPT. HARRY MCCOMAS could spend about as much money in running a boat as any man of his time.
